

Call for papers

Invitation to contribute to a special issue of the journal of: The Human Resources Development

Research Unit (URDR), University Sétif 2, Algeria

Complementarity, partnership and building the future (((Social studies and approaches)))

Proposed issue

Social studies have great importance in the fields of scientific knowledge in the field of scientific publications which require a good knowledge of society and its ever increasing needs, how useful for researchers and for the complementarity between the various complex disciplinary fields between social science, political science, economy and disciplinary didactics,... In order to disseminate the culture of scientific research, to study and to take charge of the various questions and various contemporary problems, and to develop the know-how (skills) of social science researchers, the Human Resources Development Research Unit is calling for contributions for a special issue of its journal which will cover the following areas of analysis.

Proposed axes (non-exhaustive lists) :

- 1- Dimensions required and taken on by citizenship education and the construction of future citizens in the field of school and in the teaching, training and education systems; the role of social studies in the face of international changes;
- 2- Effect of complementarities and interdisciplinary overlaps on the realization of a social studies program in connection with education and teaching;
- 3- Dialogue between knowledge and values for a collective construction of a culture of citizenship by means of different teachings;
- 4- The role played by local, national and international partnership through the mobilization of the school and a social studies program in favor and for the promotion of citizenship.

Dates and terms of submission

The deadline for receipt of articles is 03/30/2021 via the link available on the scientific journals platform: <https://www.asjp.cerist.dz/en/PresentationRevue/183> through which you can consult the conditions of publication, the download of the model and the methods of publication

Pr Lahcen BOUABDELLAH

Editor-in-chief of the Journal